To

LOUISE LIPSCOMB,

For her constant good humor and cheerfulness,

For her delightful work as a teacher,

And for her jolly good-fellowship with all her students,

We, the seniors, wish to show in some measure our appreciation;

Therefore we wish to dedicate to her

THE 1931 COYOTE

EDITORS NOTE

The Vikings were the adventurers of old,
Facing the perils of an unknown sea,
Conquering all foes, and discovering new lands.

We, the seniors, are the adventurers of our time,

Setting out into a new decade,
Preparing to overcome all obstacles,
And hoping to discover new realms of labor and life.

FEATURES

The grand finale of the beauty show is shown in a most elaborate setting. And oh, those red heads. But just a minute. There's one who is not a red head, and it's none other than our talented Durwood Park. The two beauties are Nellie Ruth Smith, High School Beauty, and Joan Fox, the former's nearest competitor. The beauty show was most skillfully and successfully managed by Mr. Williams, to whom we extend our gratitude. A lover of all things beautiful would be attracted by the thirty girls, who were chosen for their possession of beauty and charm.

Merry Christmas, folks! And especially to those who contributed their time and energy to making our parade a success. Margaret and Lucia's smiling faces would make anyone merry, don't you think? And even some members of the Coyote Staff seem quite happy in spite of their work.

How do you like our school representatives? The handsome quartet composed of Hi-Y boys certainly aren't hard to look at, are they? Mr. Richardson and his boys look as if they are ready for any challenge. We wonder if they dare challenge those gym classes to anything?

All aboard! Do you come to school by bus, street car, automobile, horseback, or by excessive energy of the feet and legs? It looks as if some poor boy has had a streak of bad luck; nevertheless here is proof that the car is the most popular method of transportation with high school inmates.

This is vacation time represented in all its glory. It seems that in summer sports the girls are inclined to be masculine. The girls' gym leader and the boys take special pains to make known to all the proper summer styles; however, one outstanding member of the student body appears in working apparel. Can it be true?

These boys are certainly making good the idea of "skull practice" with Coach Holton and Assistant Morris as Mentors. Our players did a lot of hard training, and deserve a lot of praise. Attending to other matters, Benny and Danny are holding the football record to the best of their ability, just as some other football aspirant is kicking that pigskin to the four winds.

And look at our good old boys plunge through that "wet platform." Even the Lubbock boys seem to be a wee bit damp. We see many other exciting games during the season. The girls are certainly doing their part in making the W known. So here's to the Wichita squad, win or lose!

Aha. He won't get away now. Sorry; but just don't do it again. Here is a striking view of the house of law, with a few of our conscientious students eager for knowledge. Oh dear, oh dear, a group is gathered around an awfully forbidding structure. Looks suspicious. But we need not fear for them, for just look at their judges who were caught in a most satisfactory part of their daily routine. Who are those two sweet things with such woeful looks on their lovely faces? They won't be there long, for who could resist such pleading expressions.?

What a place this old world would be without smiles, laughter, and sunshine. The two outstanding figures of the school seem very well contented. The girl's who are inclined to be athletic work happily in perfect harmony. On the other hand, a certain one (?) leans on others for support. We don't know what these boys are up to, but they can't conceal their expression of content. After work comes play. If you don't think so, ask these two girls who are happy for this very reason.

Spring has come! One member of the student body welcomes the season in a very peculiar way. Along with spring comes beauty all wrapped in bundles of sweetness and charm. This certainly applies to the quartet that welcomes spring with smiles of gratitude. In contrast, there is someone who doesn't seem to know what it's all about. Will somebody please enlighten him? The merry office boy, along with spring, does his work in a thorough manner. What's this? Three smart girls are rushing the season a little. However, they are a little bit undecided.

Spring athletics are beginning to make their appearance in track, pole vault, hurdle, tennis, and football. After a run around the track, the fellows all take a rest. As to the boy with that long pole—well, we hope he makes it. Look out there below. The hurdle race, a difficult sport, requires skill and speed. Girls, as well as boys, are athletic; for they are hard to reason with when they handle a tennis racquet so skillfully. It seems as if that popular game, football, will simply not be left out. And we now know Rufus King, who is our tennis champion as well as the national trap-shooting champion.

Who would have thought that these youngsters would some day be "dignified" seniors. With such distinguished representatives of the May Farewells, and the two distinguished leaders, this senior class just couldn't help being the best yet. Some of the May Farewells are prepared for departure from W. F. H. S., but they'll be back. The Senior Class of '31 has certainly gone male-minded. Girls, is it fair?

The Music Club has had not only one of the largest enrollments of any club in our school, but it also has had some of our most talented students as its members. Student talent was able to be used in most programs, while visiting artists were worth while bringing to this club because of the appreciation with which its members accepted them. Along with being well entertained, the work of the Music Club proved beneficial in that in its programs it brought forth different types of music, worthwhile composers, and other phases of music.

The Music Club has accomplished much this year in the way of entertaining the public as well as its own members. Last year everyone thought that the musical comedy, "Belle of Barcelona," showed the music department the first rung of the Ladder of Success, but this year several rungs were ascended when the spring operetta, "Riding Down the Sky," was presented to an appreciative audience. A unique program and also a very successful one was the Negro Minstrel presented in general assembly for the benefit of the Music Club.

One can readily understand the success of the Music Club when he learns the names of its officers. Fred Sehmunn—ably assisted by Mary Alice Johnson and Don Bright—has tried to give the Music Club the best of everything, while Mrs. Vaughan has been the nucleus of the Music Club.

The outstanding events of the year were: the delegation to Ceta Canyon, sending of thirty-six delegates to the Lubbock Older Boys' Conference, Best Girl Banquet, pledge week and pledge luncheon, and Father and Son Banquet.

Special activities of the year included numerous reports from Bill Hord and Springer Williams of their trip to the World Conference and supplied speakers to special church services at Graham, Electra, Vernon, Childress, Burkburnett, Fort Worth, All-city Hi-Y banquet, Gainesville Older Boys' Conference, and a special church program at the Highland Heights Christian Church.

From the above reports, it seems evident that the Wichita Falls Hi-Y Club is endeavoring to fulfill its purpose: To create, maintain, and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character.

The Wichita Falls High School Speakers' Club has many ideals which its members have desired to work for and see carried out. During 1930-'31 many of these long-looked-for ideals came true. Among them were the stimulating programs given us by excellent speakers who brought us nearer to our own ideals of what a speaker should be. Also the opportunity for student participation in the programs gave us splendid practice and training for Interscholastic League Contests in which the Speakers' Club members have always won distinction.

We owe a tribute to the former members of our organization who, although now successful speakers and prominent citizens of our home town, are never too busy to give us of their time and advice.

INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE

DEBATE

The subject for debates in the Interscholastic League in Texas for 1930 was:

"Resolved, That Sterling's Plan for Financing Highway Construction in Texas Should Be Adopted."

Many students in high school entered the contest, and from the number Dean Harrison and Fred Barron were chosen to represent the boys of Wichita Falls, and Evelyn Franklin and Charlotte Joiner were selected to represent the girls.

Dean and Fred went to the semi-finals in the district contest, but Charlotte and Evelyn were defeated earlier in the preliminaries.

EXTEMPORE SPEAKING

After the eliminations in the extemporaneous speaking contest, Hal Ray was awarded first place in the school; Bertha Mae Kruger, second place; and Pat Henry, third place. In the district contest Hal won second place.

J. WILKIE TALBERT MEDAL

Homer Lee was the winner of the J. Wilkie Talbert medal in the annual Ready Speakers Contest sponsored by Mr. Talbert. This contest is for senior boys and is for extemporaneous speaking. Homer was victorious over Fred Barron and Moulton B. Harrison, the other contestants in the finals. The subject for discussion was "What I Value Most in My High School Education."

DECLAMATION

Wichita Falls was well represented in the declamation contest in that again its declaimer went to the state finals. Margaret Bone, giving William P. Fry's address on "The Protection of the American Citizen", won second place in the State contest.

Joe Witherspoon made a creditable showing in the boys' contest, but was defeated in the district finals by Joe Turner of Electra. His declamation was entitled "The American Flag Not the Dollar Sign", by Henry Cabot Lodge. Later in the year, Joe won the West Texas championship in the Chamber of Commerce "Home Town Speaking Contest" held in Abeline. His tribute to "The City That Faith Built" won much praise all over Texas.

ORATORICAL CONTEST

Bertha Mae Kruger brought honor to our school by winning second place in the district in an oratorical contest on "The Constitution." One of the basic rules was that the oration be original. Bertha Mae's was entitled "The Constitution."

ESSAY

To Helen Broodo goes the distinction of being winner in the Interscholastic League Essay Contest which included representatives from all the schools of Wichita Falls. "The Arab's Views of the Arabian-Jewish Struggle in Palestine" was her chosen subject.

In a thrift essay contest held throughout Wichita Falls, Horace Thornton was awarded first prize and Emogene Wagoner second. The work of both was of unusually high merit, as was evidenced by the fact that they were unanimously declared winners over all contestants.

Surely the members of the Gens Romana must have carried in their minds throughout the year the famous words of Cicero, trying to combine education and entertainment, "Nam ceterae neque temporum sunt neque aetatum omnium neque locorum; at haec studia adulescentiam alunt, senectutem oblectant, secundas res ornant, adversis perfugium ac solacium praebent, delectant domi non impediunt foris, pernoctant nobiscum, peregrinantur, rusticantur."

The Gens Romana has earned its good name through the combined efforts of its members, its officers, and its sponsors. Harry Schramm has proved himself to be a strong back-bone of the Club. Bertha Mae Kruger, as vice-president and chairman of the program committee, has provided the "felicitem", while James Lee, Helen Simpson, and J. I. Staley have upheld the "negotium." Without the aid of Misses Lona Betty Brown and Lelia V. Davis, the Gens Romana could never have had the success that it is now enjoying.

Along with the usual annual banquet in Roman costume, Latin students this year have come out in the open. They attended a pleasant picnic—Roman?—no, roamin' in the wilds.

One of the most popular and worthwhile organizations for social and ex'tra-curricular work is the High School Spanish Club, which not only offers to all students of Spanish some very beneficial methods of expanding their general knowledge of the entire language, but also affords them some exceptionally pleasant entertainment and diversion from tedious lessons.

To show how much the club's members truly appreciate the Spanish language, they extricated from their midst the only Mexican boy in the school, Genero Gonzales, and elected him president. Genero is outstanding not merely because of his nationality, but also because of his reserved intelligence and the pleasant personality so characteristic of his countrymen. Furthermore his speech in his own true tongue is a relief as well as a great aid to the amateurs who cannot acquire the genuine Spanish accent.

The other leading officers are likewise worthy of the honor and work that goes with the offices. Marshall Wood makes a very diligent and able vice-president and program chairman. Marshall, with the aid of Helen Broodo and Grace Warman, has provided programs as interesting and varied as possible by presenting Spanish plays, talks, puzzles, dances, readings, music, and experienced native speakers of Spanish-speaking countries. At each meeting a different song is rendered to or by the club. Mary Alma Mitchell is secretary who uses her almost unlimited knowledge to a great advantage. Merwyn Hudgens has become well known as the treasurer who goes past the limits of physical force and unabridged dictionary digs to make his fellow-sufferers hand over their "inguenta centavos." Helen Broodo, as publicity manager, constantly attempts to give the club the excellent publicity that it deserves.

The true backbone of the club is the sponsorship, bestowed upon Miss Agnes Zihlman, who is assisted by Misses Leila V. Davis and Jane McCulloch—all instructors of Spanish, who have tried to keep the club work rolling along. With these many assets the Spanish Club is a general, thorough success!

The Girls' Gym Leaders Club is composed of girls who are especially interested in physical education. These girls show their interest by assisting Miss Olinger with class work. One of their main duties is that of keeping an accurate check of the roll of their gymnasium classes. They also help with organizing inter-class games.

The Girls' Gym Leaders Club sponsored Health Week, using as their motto "Suitable School Clothing." Two health programs—one showing how to gain and preserve good health, and the other a play creating the ideal American girl—were presented by the girls' gym classes to the student assembly.

Then, too, the organization sponsored the pep-squad. Each gym leader became a member of the squad, which turned out to be one of the best the school has ever had.

The Junior Engineers' Club of the high school, the most recent organization in the school, came into existence November 21, 1930. This club is a new and most elite society for the furthering of all branches of engineering in Wichita Falls High School.

This club meets on the first and fourth Fridays, during the thirty minute period, of every six weeks period. The members of the club must meet certain general requirements in scholarship, these being an average of 85 in both mathematics and science; the membership of the club is limited to not over fifty members. At the second meeting the club voted to take in all Junior College pupils interested in any branch of engineering. The college members must make an average of B in their science and mathematics. Much is expected from this organization in the future, and the hope for success of the members is great.

UPPER—MIXED CHORUS

LOWER—GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

MIXED CHORUS

The mixed chorus is a new organization this year and has composed the largest group of voices found in the music department, having an enrollment of seventy. The aim of this organization is to teach its members to sing difficult music; to develop the ability to sing parts, thereby enabling students to participate in later life in choirs, choral clubs, and any such organization in their community.

To become a member of this chorus, one must first have had at least one term of glee club work; he must be able to read music well; and his musical ear must be developed to sing four part music. Each member must pass an examination in tone quality, sight reading, and part singing and must be recommended to the class by the instructor. The class is divided into sopranos, altos, tenors, and basses, and much time is spent on sight singing. Compositions by great composers are studied, and many very famous songs are learned, such as Schubert's Serenade, Neidlinger's Rockin' In De Win, Strickland's Ma Lindy Lou, Gounods's Holy, Holy Lord, Pilgrims' Chorus from Tanhauser, Sleepy Hollow Tune by Kountz, The Heavens Resound arranged from Beethoven, Molloy's Love's Old Sweet Song, Carry Me Back To Old Virginny and other numbers.

The Mixed Chorus presented the spring operetta, "Riding Down The Sky," assisted by the Girls' and Boys' Glee Club of the school. They have not only given performances in assembly but have sung at various times for the churches of the city, the P. T. A. of our school, and other organizations. They were one of the outstanding features in the Gala Concert, a performance given at the Memorial Auditorium with three hundred students taking part. The performance was broadcast by remote control from KGKO. The chorus had the honor of presenting the vocal numbers for the spring commencement program.

They have worked diligently and their instructor, Hermione S. Vaughn, feels justly proud of their performance.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

With an enrollment of one hundred and seventy girls the glee club classes have done most interesting and profitable work. Two and three part music of the more difficult type was studied, such as the four movements from "Peer Gynt Suite" by Grieg. The Girls' Glee Club made many appearances in various public performances. The girls sang, "Morning Mood" from "Peer Gynt Suite" and "Can't You Hear Me Callin', Caroline" on the Gala Concert given by the entire music department at the Memorial Auditorium; while some of these girls took part in the Spring Operetta, "Riding Down the Sky," by Geoffrey O'Harg. The Valentine and the Indian programs were especially beautiful and were well costumed.

The girls' trio consisting of Evelyn Franklin, Elta Rose Franklin, and Stella Evans has become widely known and very popular at luncheons, banquets, and all sorts of programs and have become a regular feature over station KGKO, being known as the Dulce Don Segno Singers.

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club organized last year under the direction of Mrs. Hermione Stuart Vaughn has continued its work with even greater success and progressiveness. Most of the time has been given to the study of four part music of the highest type, specially arranged for boys' voices. Aside from giving many and varied programs in our own High School Assemblies, this group of young men has given programs in our neighboring schools.

Leonard Baggett, Fred Sehmman, William Donnell, and Pat Henry, composing the quartet, have sung before many luncheon clubs, social gatherings, and school programs over the area. Outstanding appearances were at the Older Boys' Conference at Lubbock, Texas Christian University at Fort Worth, and radio stations KGKO and WBAP. Most of the time has been given to the study of four part music.

The Art Club of 1930-1931 has had as its aim a broader appreciation for art and the art industries. Programs have been planned in order that some phase of art endeavor might be clarified. Costume designs, home decoration, window decoration, show card writing, and free lance work have all been discussed. Members of the club have thus realized more fully the broad field of occupations opened to them through the study of art education.

This organization started its work at the beginning of the fall semester of 1930. In order that the girls taking part on its activities might represent as nearly as possible the standards of the school, the club set a high standard of scholarship as a requirement of its membership. To give interesting, worthwhile programs was its purpose, and the girls soon became recognized entertainers of ability.

For a new organization the Merry Melody Maids accomplished a great deal of work and received an unusual amount of recognition. They have been presented before the student body, the Parent-Teachers' Association, the audience of the mid-year graduation exercises of 1930, and other groups. On all occasions the club was well received; yet the coming year seems to present an even better opportunity for growth and development. It is the sincere desire of every girl to work to the best of her ability to make her club one that she and her school can justly be proud of. With this thought in mind the Maids await the year 1931 with hope and expectation.

Mrs. Hermione Stuart Vaughan, sponsor and director, has worked to make the club one of the outstanding organizations of the school; while Jean Hunter, as president, has proved herself a leader in the truest sense of the word. Mary Claire Burton, Ruth Pruitt, and Helen Broodo have brought out their talent as leaders and shown much enthusiasm in the music department.

Among the number of members are many talented soloists; while there are others who, besides being interested in the field of music, are artists in their lines also.

BARRY HOLTON

Barry Holton, head coach at Wichita Falls High School, is admired more and more every day by his players, pupils, and fans. In his two years of coaching and teaching here he has become one of the most popular members of the faculty. On the practice field he is always full of advice and ever ready to help a player. Off the practice field he is just as ready to assist his boys.

A graduate of Notre Dame and a former player under the famed Knute Rockne, Mr. Holton is considered one of the best coaches in the state.

J. N. HALL

J. N. Hall, a popular member of the faculty, has for the past several years trained and coached the track teams of Wichita Falls High School. He has produced some of the best teams in the district.

Mr. Hall, a former Howard Payne track star, knows how to train his men in a thorough way. Great things are expected of Mr. Hall's teams in the future.

W. J. MORRIS

Bill Morris, assistant coach, was a cheerful asset to the teams. He was always ready to assist and encourage the boys under his supervision. For the past three years he has been coaching the B Squad football boys, training the new and inexperienced boys for more important teams. During the basketball season he assisted the head coach with the second string players in an able manner.

DAVIDA OLINGER

Miss Olinger, girls' gymnasium instructor, is a favorite among the girls in school. She has coached some of the best basketball, volley ball, and hockey teams in this part of the state. She has been the tennis coach for the girls for several years and has had some creditable teams in the field.

A SQUAD

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

While most of the students were getting ready for school to start, the football team of our high school was getting ready for bigger and better things. Two weeks before the bells announced the first day of school, the nucleus of the 1930 Coyote team went through regular routine at the training camp. The boys lived on the campus, dined in the cafeteria, and slept on cots in the manual training room. Two and three outdoor sessions per day were the daily routine for the boys. Blackboard skull sessions made their appearance each day, and the candidates worked the grey matter as well as the muscles. By the time school started, the boys were in fine shape both mentally and physically.

The pre-conference games of the Coyotes were well played, heavy football games in which the early training of the Coyotes showed up to an advantage. The first game was with Polytechnic High School of Fort Worth. The powerful Polys outplayed our fighting pack and won a victory of 10 to 6. The Temple, Oklahoma, High School was a different story. Withrow made repeated gains of twenty and thirty yards helping the other Coyotes defeat the boys from Temple by the impressive scores of 32-0. This victory put confidence into the pack, and they had high hopes for the coming Conference game with Lubbock.

The Coyotes opened the Conference season at Spudder Park with the Lubbock Westerners. This game was played under the most terrible weather conditions possible. A cold wind and a drizzling rain made almost impossible playing conditions, and the mud puddle called a grid iron made punting and passing out of the question. Lubbock's superior power of attack and the fact that the Coyotes got a lot of bad breaks told in the long run, and the Coyotes lost by a narrow margin of 13 to 10.

The team next in order was Electra, the scene of many a hard fought battle between these ancient rivals. Electra was an inspired team that day, playing a brand of football that was beyond them. This fact seemed to keep our Coyotes from gaining their normal stride. As a result the Electra Tigers won the victory by the score of 6 to 0.

B SQUAD

REVIEW OF THE SEASON

The next week the Pack journeyed to Quanah, fully expecting to roll up a great score against the team that usually ranked last in the district, but contrary to all predictions Quanah won the game 18 to 13.

At Vernon the following week in the last few minutes of the last quarter, two beautifully executed passes by Vernon brought disaster to us and the only score of the game which ended 6 to 0 in Vernon's favor.

The following Saturday the Coyotes, playing the whole game without a single letter man and with almost half their starting line-up new men, lost a 12-0 decision to Childress.

In their best game of the season the Pack defeated the Plainview Bulldogs by the impressive score of 19 to 7. Bennett Withrow ran 70 yards through the entire Plainview team for the first touchdown. He made other runs of 59, 32, and 23 yards to produce one of the greatest individual performances since the days of Leo Baldwin.

A non-conference game with Sherman ended disastrously, for the Coyotes lost 25-7. This was a return game, but the team failed to return the defeat that they suffered last year.

The following week the Pack journeyed to Pampa to play the Harvesters. Many coaches and individuals believed that Pampa was the strongest team in the district, although Amarillo had defeated them 2-0 on a wet field. The Coyotes tested their strength in a 71-7 defeat at Pampa's hands. Ed Greenwood snared a pass for the Coyote's only touchdown, a precious score.

The last game of the season was played at Spudder Park with the Amarillo Sandies, runner-up in the state championship race and four times District I champions. A daring air attack by the Coyotes netted us eighteen points which was more points than any other team in the district had succeeded in amassing against the Sandies. But while the Coyotes were getting their eighteen points, the Amarillo team succeeded in getting eighty-five points, ending an interesting but unsuccessful season.

C SQUAD

Review of the B and C Squad Season

The Coyote B and C squads were larger this year than ever before. In them were many letter man and stars of the future; for here the inexperienced players, under the capable coaching of Assistant Coach Bill Morris, learned the fundamentals and rudiments of the game, being fitted to step into the first squad next year. These squads also prove valuable in the training of the first team. Almost every day the B Squad scrimmaged with the first string men and tried to break up their plays. In this manner, not only the first team gained experience but the B Squad learned football as well.

Not all the time was spent in scrimmaging the A Squad, however, for the B Squad played something like thirteen games with out of town opposition. This experience in playing with other teams than the Coyote first team was very valuable to the inexperienced boys. Although the B Squad was outclassed in nearly every game, they gained much experience and development from the playing.

On their own field the B Squad played Archer City, Nocona, Burkburnett, Iowa Park, Bowie, and Olney. The games played out of town were at Archer City, Bowie, Nocona, Burkburnett and Olney. The total scores amassed were Coyotes 65—opponents 140.

The C Squad did not play any out of town games, but spent their time in practicing the fundamentals of football and in learning the rules of the game and in giving practice to the other two strings of men, a worthy cause.

BENNETT WITHROW, Halfback

Bennett Withrow, the captain-elect for 1931, is one of the greatest backs in Coyote history. He is probably the greatest individual Coyote star since Leo Baldwin. He is a shifty runner, a good passer and punter, and a hard hitting line plunger. Watch this boy next year.

DAN COX, Quarterback

Danny, the Coyotes' mighty atom, was a speedy, quick-thinking quarterback of unusual ability. The Coyotes will lose an exceptional field general and open field runner by his graduation this year.

HARLAN RAY, Halfback

Duck ranks with the best as an open field runner and side-stepper, when he really gets worked up to it. His accurate left-hand passes have bewildered more than one opposing team. We lose a truly valuable halfback with his graduation this year.

JOHNNY WHITE, Fullback

Johnny was an excellent line plunger, despite the fact that he was much lighter weight than the average football player. He was a good defensive back and fast in an open field. He should make good in many ways with that determined spirit which he possesses.

HOLDEN

SEPKOVITCH

GOUGH

CHARLES HOLDEN, Tackle

Chick was the lone letter man to return from the team of 1929 and was considered one of the best tackles in the district. Not only was he an excellent line man, but his educated toe got the Coyotes out of many a close place this season.

MAX SEPKOVITCH, Guard

This stocky guard, Max, was a mainstay in the Coyote line this year. Not many gains of the enemy were made over his side of the line. Max will add much strength to the Coyote line next year.

LESTER DANIEL, Tackle

"Grandma" was truthfully called the boy with the football heart, a real fighter with a never-say-die spirit. His cheerful disposition and helpful words were an inspiration to the team.

ALLEN GOUGH, Tackle

Allen was a mainstay on his side of the line. He was the biggest man on the squad; and when he tackled anyone, he stayed tackled. The Pack will lose a mighty good tackle by his graduation this year.

KING

C. L. KING, Center

Loopy was an excellent pivot man, Not only did he pass the ball with unerring accuracy, but he was one of the best and surest tacklers that were on the squad. His cheerful countenance often deceived the enemy as to his fighting spirit.

J. R. HOLTON, Halfback and End

J. R. was perhaps the hardest working man on the squad. He trained consistently, never missed a minute of practice, and was always ready for any demand made on him. He played halfback as well as end quite well, and in every game he fought his very hardest. Just suppose that he were a little heftier.

MALCOLM MAUDIN, End

Malcolm played his first game this year for the Coyotes. He excelled in going down after fast punts and in catching passes. In this last play he was needed many times.

ROBERT BRANDON, End

Bob was an excellent end who excelled in snaring passes out of nowhere. He is a real fighter, and his presence in the wing position will be great help next football season.

PARISH

ROY W. PARISH, Fullback and Utility

R. W., fullback, end, tackle, or what have you? Cheezy was the most versatile man on the team. He played one position just as well as another, and he played almost every place on the team. He was a hard worker and was always ready when he was needed.

HAMLIN RUGELEY, Quarterback

Hamlin played his first and last game for the Coyotes this year. He was a heady field general, a hard tackler, and probably the best passer on the squad.

OGDEN KELLY, Tackle

Hog was a hard working, hard hitting player who put real fight in every game. Had he had been a little broader, as he was tall, he could have taken three men out instead of only two.

ED GREENWOOD, End

Ed, diminutive end, was in the very middle of every play that was made while he was in the game. He was a real fighter who excelled in snatching passes out of the atmosphere and departing suddenly, full speed ahead, toward the enemy's goal line.

KEYES

GOODMAN

HARBES

CLOIS KEYES, Tackle

Clois was a very industrious player who fought his hardest whenever he got to play. He was a fast, hard hitting tackler, who unfortunately we lose this year.

MERWYN HUDGENS, Guard

Merwyn was a quick, hard hitting guard. He worked hard on the practice field as well as on the playing gridiron and always fought his best.

ELVIS GOODMAN, Guard

"Insane" was a good player and one well liked by all his team mates. Although he did not get to play as much as some of the others, he was always ready to fight for W. F. H. S.

EARL HARBES, Tackle

Earl was another player who did all he could to help the Coyotes to a stellar position in the district. He is a past track man and unusually fast for a tackle. Watch this boy when he goes to college.

MORRISON

PRACTICE

DICK MORRISON, Manager

Dick was one of the best managers the Coyotes have ever had. He kept excellent equipment and was out to practice every day with his medical supplies, extra equipment, and water. At every game he was on the side lines, ready to meet every man who came off the field and help those who needed him.

BILLY JENKINS, Manager

Billy had the real school spirit of Wichita Falls High School. Every day he was out on the practice field to help Dick take care of the equipment and players. His sunny disposition and willingness to help made him a favorite with both coaches and players.

Review of the Season

During the latter part of December of 1930 one of the largest squads ever to turn out for basketball at Wichita High began their training under Coach Holton. At the first of the season the prospects were very encouraging for the Coyotes. Four letter men returned from the former team and there was more excellent reserve material than ever before in the new men. The regular squad finally dwindled, however, to eleven of the best men and the season's work began.

The pre-conference games were for the most part victories for the Coyotes. Their fast passing and shooting bewildered their opponents, and the Coyotes usually were the winners. About the middle of the season the squad became heartened by the return of Mitchell Scarbrough, a letter man of the year before who had been out of town the early part of the season.

The annual district meet was held at Wichita Falls on February 20-21. In the first round Joy defeated Harrold 23-22 followed by Cashion's trimming Masters 27-20. In the third game of the morning came one of the best played games of the tournament. Wichita Falls, as in the past two years, drew the ultimate district champions for opponents. If the Coyotes had won their game with Nocona, they would undoubtedly have been district champions. Battling hard, but outshone in the face of the smooth Nocona floor work, the Coyotes took the losing end of a 35-26 score. A number of times the Coyotes slipped through great shots in rapid succession that promised to overhaul a long lead established by the Nocona attack earlier in the game, but a number of pretty shots from the Indians in the latter part of the game gave them a lead that could not be overcome.

All of the Coyote players were outstanding in this game, but the shooting and passing of Mitchell Scarbrough, plucky guard, was unusually good. His excellent game won him a place on the all-district five.

BASKETBALL

RAYMOND ALLEN

Raymond Allen played center the entire season for the Coyotes. He was indeed a valuable asset to the team, having a natural ability and a natural love of the game. His practice and excellent eye for the basket made him one of the high scorers in the district.

BENNETT WITHROW

Benny was a valuable player, although he did not make as many points as some of the other players. His chief object was not to make points, however, but to place the team in a better position for scoring. His short passes to the men who were open have accounted for many a score, and his terse remarks and fighting spirit inspired the whole team.

HARROLD REEVES

Harrold Reeves, a comparatively new man, made his first letter with the Coyotes this year. Through hard work and much practice he became one of the most versatile players on the team. He fought his hardest in every game and did his utmost to help the Coyotes win. His determination and never-say-die spirit were inspiring.

ROBERT BRANDON

Robert was a letter man to return from last year's basketball team. He was a very valuable player, shooting and passing with unerring accuracy. Here was another fighter who gave all he had in every game. His past basketball experience came in handy this season and he used it to the best of his ability.

SCARBROUGH

BASKETBALL

MITCHELL SCARBROUGH

Mitchell was, without a doubt, the most valuable man on the team. The fact that he did not arrive until about the middle of the season did not stop him from becoming one of the fastest and surest shots in the district. In the game of the season with the district champions, Nocona, he was outstanding as a player, the only man on the Coyote team to get a place on the all-district team. A natural basketball player and a steady, consistent worker, Mitchell will go forward in any activity that he undertakes.

BOB DECKER

Bob Decker was a new player this year for the Coyotes. Because of his hard work and natural ability he rose from a beginner to an excellent player. He was always ready to do his best for the team when he got a chance to be in the game. Bob will return next year to help make a championship team.

BILLY JENKINS, Manager

Billy Jenkins was a valuable asset to the team, not as a player but as a very encouraging manager. He cooperated with the coach at all times and never failed to have uniforms and medical equipment ready for some needy player. He was well liked by the players and coach because of his cheerful disposition and his readiness to work.

1930 TRACK

THOMAS BEATY, Captain

Thomas Beaty, captain of the Coyote's highly successful team of 1930, was, without a doubt, the best high hurdle man in the district. His first place in the high hurdles and third place in the high jump helped the Coyotes materially to place second in the district meet. Not only was he a first class high hurdle man and high jumper, but he also threw the discus with great skill and he put the shot beyond ordinary distance.

CLARENCE ASHTON, Captain-Elect

Clarence Ashton was one of the fastest sprinters in the district, winning second place in the 220 yard dash and giving a good account of himself in the other track events. Great things are to be expected of Barney during the 1931 season.

ROLLIN DIXON

Rollin Dixon, weight and dash man, was a letter man of two years' experience. He was an excellent sprinter and a good shot man. In the district meet Rollin captured second place in the 440 yard dash to help the Coyotes make second place in the meet.

1930 DISTRICT MEET

RAEBURN NORRIS

Raeburn Norris was the Coyote's best pole vaulter. This athlete resembled a bird in flight as he swept across the bar with the aid of his vaulting pole. However, as there were a few who could get more height, he took only fourth place in the district meet.

BENNY WORD

Benny Word was another fast man on the Coyote track squad. He was a good dash man but was at his best in the relay. It was Benny who helped the Coyotes win the relay, third place.

EARL HARBES

Earl Harbes, weight and dash man, was one of the fast men on the squad and one who trained consistently. He was a willing worker and a steady one and served his place on the relay team in an excellent manner.

FRANKLIN

DOROTHY CLINE, Singles

Through constant practice added to much natural ability, Dorothy Cline has become one of the best tennis players in the district. In a series of hotly contested matches, she defeated all local school contestants, winning the right to represent Wichita Falls in the district meet. Representing the school in a very able manner, Dorothy advanced to the semi-finals, being defeated only by the district champion. This year she hopes to go through to the state meet.

GREGG AND FRANKLIN, Doubles

Wynona Gregg and Elta Rose Franklin, both fast scientific tennis players, defeated all local school contestants in the doubles matches played. Both girls had played match tennis before, Wynona having been the singles representative for the last two years as well as having played on the doubles team. Elta Rose had also played many games. Although this pair was defeated in the second round of match play in the district tournament, it was not done easily. The match was a long and hard fought one, and both girls showed up excellently.

1930 BOYS' TENNIS

RUFUS KING, Singles

With his natural love of sport events, Rufus has added a steady nerve and constant practice to make him an excellent tennis player as well as a champion trap shooter. Though only in junior high school, Rufus defeated all comers in the single matches for representing Wichita Falls in the district meet. Since he has three more years of high school tennis ahead of him, we feel that we have a future state champion in our midst.

BLACK AND DONOHOO, Doubles

In the contest for the best doubles team in Wichita Falls High School, Vernon Black and Homer Donohoo won with flying colors. Both boys are excellent players and together they make a fine team. They advanced to the finals in the district meet, but they were defeated by the district champions, Bowie, in the final contest.

VOLLEY BALL

Volley ball is probably the game the girls' gym classes take most interest in during the early fall and winter. The girls play hockey, soccer, build pyramids, and play other games; but they show far more interest in volley ball than in any of these.

Although the girls did not have a real volley ball team to enter competitive matches, great interest was shown by each of the classes in choosing the winning team of the school. Each gym class had a volley ball team composed of girls from that period class. They chose their captain and played during their gym period and after school. After several weeks of practice, the teams played among themselves until the two best teams were left. These two teams played after school, when the girls of the second period class defeated the other teams.

The winning team was composed of the following members: Virgie Mae Stearman, Capt.; Jessie Warren, Nell Reed, Jean Worley, Faith Galmich, Doris Bracken, and Louise Cook.

HUMOR & ADS

One Day In Assembly

Fred Sehmann and Margaret Bone, two of our aspiring young actors, were participating in a vaudeville skit directed by Mrs. Hermione Vaughan.

"Say, Fred, I just heard something pathetic, Kathlyn Hill is going to die."

"Not really—how come?"

"Well, I heard Margaret Dale talking to her, and she said, 'Bridge, Bridge! You'll die at a bridge table! and Kathlyn said, 'Well, bury me with simple honors.'"

"Speaking of bridges," said Fred, "Billie Leslie and John just crossed one. Jilted Don Thomas was at the wedding looking rather melancholy. Gene Harvey, trying to cheer him, asked, 'Have you kissed the bride?' 'Not lately,' said Don, despondently."

Margaret, noticing a bundle under Fred's arm, remarked: "Whatchagotna package?"

"Sabook."

"Wassanimuvit?"

"Sadickshunary fullanaims. Wife's gonnagettableecedog and gottagettnaimforim."

"Say, Fred, there was another hunt took place last week, Haven't you heard about it?"

"No, what was it?"

"Well, James Neal Walker went down to South Texas and was hunting deer with a negro. After they had walked several miles, the darkey told James Neal to kneel, as there was a huge black buck coming that way. James Neal did, and just as he aimed, the deer raised its head, snorted, and was gone. James Neal was disappointed and, turning to the darkey, said, 'Surely the buck didn't see us. I know I didn't move!' 'No suh,' said the darkey, 'He ain' seen you. Dat I'm shore—but I think, boss, he mighta smelled you!' 'But that couldn't be,' James Neal replied, 'I had a bath only this morning.'"

"That's so—some people are just naturally dumb, Margaret. Of course, I wasn't referring to you, but let me tell you one on Eleanor Weiler. She was talking to Sam Wallace the other day and asked, 'Why is it, Sam, that your dog knows all kinds of smart tricks, while it is impossible to teach my dog anything?' 'Oh,' replied Sam Wallace, 'you have to know more than the dog to start with.'"

"Have you heard about the falling out Lester Daniels had with his papa? Well, Lester had come back from spending the summer in Europe and was rather dudishly dressed. His father, upon seeing him said, 'Son, you look like a fool.' Later on some friends came in to see the family, and, greeting both father and son cordially, one turned to Lester and said, 'Lester, you're looking more and more like your father.' 'Umm!' said Lester, 'so father was telling me.'"

"Say, Margaret, don't you think it's time we were getting to class? You know Miss Kinsey won't let us in late. C'mon."

"I'm following you."

(Curtain falls amid roars of applause.)

TESTIMONIALS

(All confessions received by this department kept strictly secret unless permission for publication is not granted.)

Dan Cox, when asked by one of our reporters the secret of his oratorical ability, waxed eloquent and said with great fervor: "Six months ago I was a human clam. When called upon to speak, I could only stammer and blush. Now, after only twenty-nine of Joe Witherspoon's Wonder Words, or How to Be Self-confident in a Crowd, I am at ease in any gathering, and my fame as an orator is rapidly spreading into many districts."

Horace Thornton, standing nearby and not wishing to be outdone, burst forth: "I was just an unpopular human in a rut three months ago. One morning about 2:30 as I finished my lessons, I glanced through a magazine. This ad met my eye: 'Learn to sing in six lessons by taking Professor William Donnell's wonder working course.' I wrote immediately. Now I am the most popular boy in my crowd, if not in the entire school, thanks to the marvelous Donnell."

"I had always dreamed of having a beautiful complexion for which I could be renowned," remarked Edna Reddy, "but I never realized that my dream would come true until I saw this wonderful ad: 'Have a beautiful skin in three applications of Mademoiselle M. Johnson's "Skin Bloom." I was desperate, so I tried this cream. Just look at me now. I am popular and well known because of my complexion, and I feel that I owe it all to Mme. Johnson."

J. L. Pope testifies: "At all the parties I seemed to be an outcast. Try as I would, no one would pay the least attention to me. It was as though I weren't there, and I nearly always wished that I had stayed at home. One day an idea came to me. I remembered the ads that I had seen in the magazines. Immediately I sent off for Madam Vaughan's correspondence course in playing the cornet. Now I am the life of every party that I attend. As a token of my regard, I desire to publicly thank Madam Vaughan."

NOTES

Pat Henry had become a great evangelist. On the last night of one of his revivals, he preached on the subject of eternal damnation. With all the eloquence at his command he urged the people to flee the wrath to come.

"Ah, my friends," he exclaimed, "on that last dread day there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth."

In a rear pew an elderly woman stood up. "Preacher," she said tremulously, "I ain't got no teeth."

"Madam!" he shouted back, "teeth will be provided."

Some of our aspiring dramatists in town had given a play, "Heartstrings," in the Junior College auditorium. The notice of the performance appeared on the front page of the morning paper as follows:

"Heartstrings", as given here by local talent last night was not half bad; in fact it was all xctzy."

SCENE III

Hours four and five have passed peacefully.

Fannie: Really, Miss Gee, I don't feel at all good. No, my mother's not at home. Thanks!—Oh, Hi, Handsome!

Harry: Out again? Take a ride? C'mon.

Fannie: Sure, Harry. Take me by home and let me tell mother where I'm going. Ya sure you'll get me home by supper?

Harry: Sure!

(And as they depart from those portals of learning, they both turn and wave a fond farewell.)

An Afternoon In The Coyote Office

As the last peals of the 3:20 bell die away (thank goodness), Helen stops aggravating Paul and wails loudly:

"Where's Miss Kelly? I can't do another thing until I talk to her, and this stuff must go off this afternoon. Oh, Paul, will you stay and mail it for me?"

Paul nods slowly, as our attention turns to Pauline, who has come in to say that she has to type this afternoon and just cannot stay for features meeting.

Hal walks in irritably and asks: "Well, where are the rest of them? Did you send slips to them or did you, as usual, forget to do so?"

After quieting down enough to receive some answer, Hal rushes around to find the pictures he took yesterday, and when success crowns his efforts, peace and silence reign for a few moments—but only a very brief time; for in rush Helen, Ruth, Jean, and Evelyn.

After admiring each other's clothes, they join in a gentle (?) argument with Hal to decide whether they should use Betty Claire's picture or Mr. Rider's at the last of the feature section. Hal is, of course, in favor of the former, arguing that it will make a perfect ending. The matter is not settled, however, for Jean, the peace-maker, suggests that they ask Miss Kelly about it when she comes in.

About that time B. Mae and Sadie rush breathlessly in, Sadie to ask how much longer she has for her section, B. Mae to ask whether anyone can help her find a real good quotation for Harlin.

J. I. strolls in, and after surveying all present with a slightly superior look (you must remember that he is taking four college subjects), he addresses Hal:

"Hen 'swa heta eaturefa ectionsa oingga ffot? 'Mla ettingga iredta foa eeingsa tia llaa heta imeta. Ia elieveba 'lli oga uttyna fia ewa on 'tda etga hroughta ithwa tia oonsa, alha."

Hal, after a few minutes of deep thought, replies darkly that by the time it is finished he will be heading for the lake road himself.

Jonnie Green comes in, and everybody stops to make suggestions for the humor section. None of these are practical. J. I. suggests that there be a page devoted to "choice" jokes (in fact, very choice), and that another page contain "Confessions of Mary Leona Roberson and Mary Alice Johnson" as told to C. D. Shamburger by the same young ladies.

Milton, hunting quotations for teachers, walks leisurely in to see if he can get some assistance. He fails to get help, but he does start a discussion about the dedication. He smiles knowingly while the rest try to decide to whom it is dedicated.

While this discussion is being carried on, Miss Kelly suddenly appears and each staff member finally turns to his own job after being told for the tenth time that this week all material must go in.

Mr. Williams, and Miss Kelly got into some deep discussion, and everyone falls to work in real earnest.
